Office of Institutional Effectiveness
Alumni Relations Survey Summer 2017 Summary

In fall 2015, the offices of Institutional Effectiveness, Alumni Relations, and Career Services formed a committee to revise the old Alumni Survey into a more useful tool to meet the data needs. The new Alumni Relations Survey was built to capture the alumni experience at the University of Houston-Clear Lake (UHCL) three years after graduation and to determine the way their higher education helped establish their professional careers. The online Alumni Relations Survey was conducted in the summer semester of 2017 using Qualtrics survey software and iModules; it was launched in June 14 and ended on August 31, 2017. All alumni with current email addresses in iModules who graduated three years ago were invited to participate in the survey. The alumni data can be divided by school, by degree level, by gender, by ethnicity, by program or any of the above combinations. The average completion time for the survey was 10 minutes.

The next five pages contain a short summary of data points by UHCL and by individual schools collected summer 2017 in the Alumni Relations Survey. Complete survey results are posted online at:

Good atmosphere great educators

I feel completely satisfied with my education and experience received from UHCL.

Perhaps this is because I went to undergraduate school a while ago, but I felt unprepared when it was time to do my thesis. I think there needs to be a seminar or class on how to write a master's thesis. I had a less-than-stellar experience with my thesis advisor because, in retrospect, I really didn't know what I was doing/how to write it and he helped very little with that aspect. Now that I teach an AP research class, I see what I did wrong and I know I would be able to have a far less stressful time. Also, I attempted to change my thesis advisor multiple times, and was not allowed to - despite the frustrations I had. My second reader was aware of the frustrations and said that my experience was not entirely typical. I was hearing two different things from my advisor and second reader, making my experience extremely stressful and confusing.

UHCL did a good job of instilling a high quality of personal development but this personal development is not linked to successful employment. For instance, in my area of study (sociology) we should be taught to be professionals in informatics (statistics and database work) or should be guided towards a pathway in GRS. Most any position you can gain in sociology you should have a technical component. The faculty that teach sociology courses are obviously oblivious when it comes to the technological elements required for students to succeed in the corporate and research world.

I am currently working toward an MS in Environmental Management at UHCL.

The Clinical Psychology program has a great reputation in the community and does an excellent job of preparing counselors.

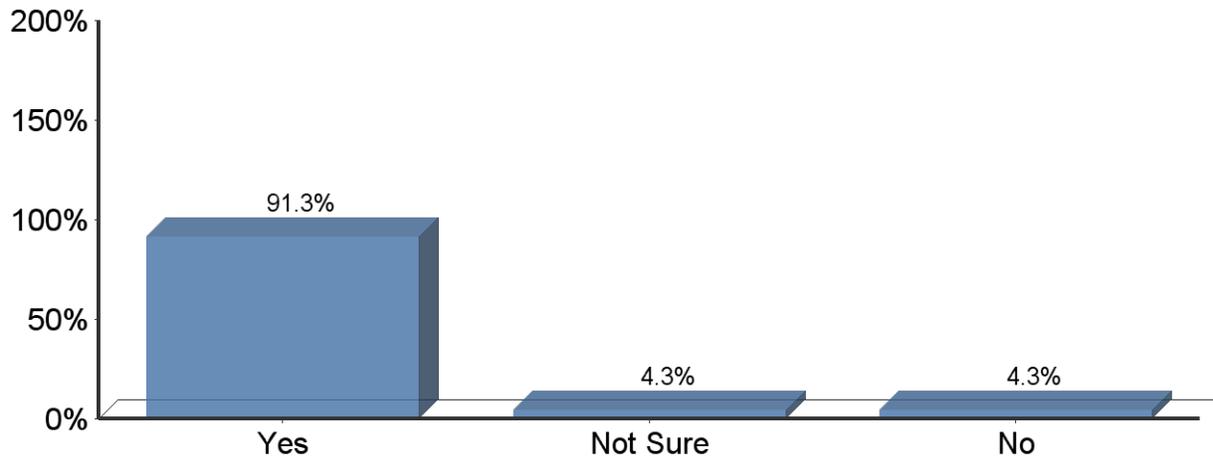

I received more than I ever imagined possible through UHCL. My world has completely opened up to new possibilities.

Close to home, culture of a "smaller" campus, cost of tuition, professors - their interest in students and their available time to help students.

Most of my teachers were excellent

Psychology resonated with me since my first course at SJC and I've been attended courses since that time. I cannot seem to get enough knowledge.

I am so happy I chose psychology. My only other wish would have been to proceed into another sub-category, such as Family and Marriage Counseling, however that was not an option at that time in my life.

I love history. I would eventually like to get my PhD.

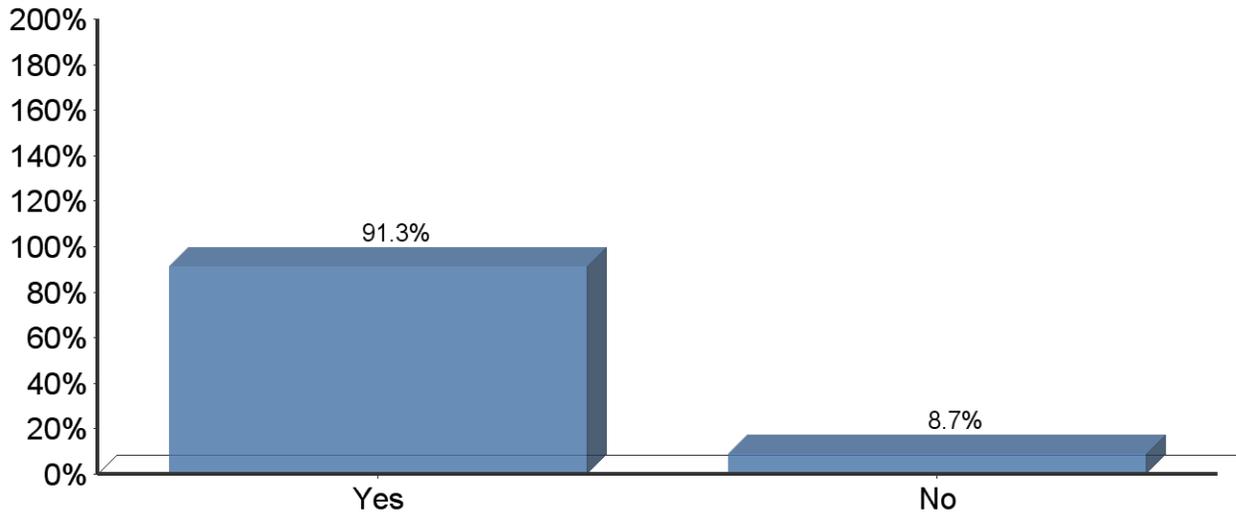

I would instead go for a MIS degree or urban studies with a GIS certification. If you are getting a social science degree it is important that the student get a certification in some technical program (ex. database work or statistical software or GIS software).

Although not entirely relevant to my current career path, the Literature program at UHCL gave me a worldly knowledge that I can apply not only to my job, but everyday life. I truly enjoyed what I learned there and my professors were outstanding.

Attending UHCL has prepared me as a counselor and administrator, and paved the way to my pursuit of a doctoral degree.

My time UHCL was one of the most fulfilling experiences in my life.

I always recommend UHCL to my friends and family when they are considering college!

It depends. If they are looking for a location, affordable school, then perhaps. However, the library needs to be updated, and the range in course of studies, too. It's an adequate school for working people, but (sorry) my experience at a larger undergraduate school was so much more enjoyable (in terms of academics and scholarly work).

This school's various departments (School of Human Sciences and Humanities) and the School of Science need instructors who are more in tune with what would make students successful in the research and corporate world. These students also need better internships options that begin at the bachelor level. In addition the engineering textbooks are horrible. Instructors need to quit using books simply because they or their friends wrote them. Instructors in the engineering and maths are horrible! The TA structure they have is a joke because the communication between the TAs and instructors is subpar.

The librarians are some of the most helpful staff/faculty you have. I truly enjoyed my experiences there. I just wish that it was larger/better for research. I spent more time at the UH main library because of the databases available there.

UHCL lacks an identity! For instance, the school should showcase their multicultural identity and the fact that the unofficial sport is cricket. This school is just using an approach to get as many students as they can but the school would be more successful if they built an identity and looked for students who would fit the atmosphere.
